Look at This.
The last ten years have been very disastrous to insurance companies in the United States. More than sixty have failed altogether, and many others have reduced their capital stock or otherwise become greatly weakened. But there are a few that by prudent management and wise liberality on the part of stock holders are much stronger now than ever. Consider the following figures taken from the reports of the Insurance commissioner, of the state of New York, for 1864 and 1874.

Ætna of Hartford, Assets in	1864,	$3,800,439. 93
" " "	1874,	5,845,802. 83

Increase of assets in ten years,		1,547,828. 20
Royal of Liverpool, (American) Funds) Assets in	1864.	$1,821,084. 0

Increase in ten years,		1,216,499. 78
Hartford, of Hartford, Assets,	1864.	$1,875,020. 48
" " "	1874.	2,415,681. 51
Increase in ten years,		830,761. 03

This wonderful growth during a term of unparalleled disaster is not the result of good fortune merely, for these companies have been the heaviest losers in Portland, Chicago Boston and other cities, and have paid out millions dollars each year. The facts commend themselves to persons who want RELIABLE insurance in three days of trial. A policy in such companies is worth twice as much as one in any of the untried institutions that are springing up on every hand. The rate is the same.
Dwelling houses and their contents insured for five years at very low prices—lower in fact than is charged by many of the Mutuals where the insured is liable to heavy assessments in case of a large fire in any of our larger towns.
Policies written on all classes of property, and losses paid at this agency.

THE SHAKERS.

HOW THEY LIVE.—THEIR BEDROOM FURNITURE.—EARLY HOURS AND METHODICAL HOUSEWORK.—SILENT BREAKFAST.—BILL OF FARE.—EVENING OCCUPATIONS.—RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.—DANCING AS DAVID DANCED.—REMARKABLE MANNERS OF MAKING AND RECEIVING CALLS.

The Shaker family or commune usually consists of from thirty to eighty or ninety persons, men and women, with such children as may have been apprenticed to the society. These live together in one large house, divided, as regards its upper stories, into rooms capable of accommodating from four to eight persons. Each room contains as many simple cot beds as it has occupants, the necessary washing utensils, a small looking glass, a stove for the Winter, a table for writing, and a considerable number of chairs, which, when not in use, are suspended from pegs along the wall. A wide hall separates the dormitories of the men from those of the women. Strips of home made carpets usually of very quiet colors, are laid upon the floors, but never tacked down. They are easily lifted, and the floor beneath is as clean as though it were a table to be eaten from. The walls are bare of pictures: not only because all ornament is wrong, but because frames are places where dust will lodge. The bedstead is a cot, covered with the bed-clothing, and easily moved away to allow of dusting and sweeping. Mats meet you at the outer door and at every inner door. The floors of the halls and dining-room are polished until they shine. Moreover, all the walls, in hall and rooms, are lined with rows of wooden pegs, on which spare chairs, hats, cloaks, bonnets, and shawls are hung; and you presently perceive that neatness, order and absolute cleanliness rule everywhere.

The Shaker family rises at half past four in the Summer and five o'clock in the Winter, breakfasts at six or half past six; dines at twelve, sups at six; and by nine or half past all are in bed and the lights are out. They eat in a general hall. The tables have no cloth, or, rather, are covered with oil cloth; the men eat at one table, women at another, and children at a third; and the meal is eaten in silence, no conversation being held at table. When all are assembled for a meal, they kneel in silence for a moment, and this is repeated on rising from the table, and on rising in the morning and before going to bed.

When they get up in the morning, each person takes two chairs, and, setting them back to back, takes off the bed-clothing, piece by piece, and folding each neatly once, lays it across the backs of the chairs, the pillows being first placed on the seats of the chairs. In the men's rooms the slops are also carried out by one of them, and the room is then left to the women, who sweep, make the beds, and put everything to rights. All this is done before breakfast, and by breakfast time what New Englanders call "chores" are all finished, and the day's work in the shops or on the field may begin.

Each brother is assigned to a sister, who takes care of his clothing, mends when it is is needed, looks after his washing, tells him when he requires a new garment, reproves him if he is not orderly, and keeps a general sisterly oversight over his habits and temporal needs.

In cooking and the general labor of the dining-room and kitchen, the sisters take turns; a certain number, sufficient to make the work light, serving a month at a time. The younger sisters do the washing and ironing; and the clothes, which are washed on Monday, are not ironed till the following week.

Their diet is simple, but sufficient. Pork is never eaten, and only a part of the Shaker people eat any meat at all. Many use no food produced by animals, denying themselves even milk, butter and eggs. At Mount Lebanon, and in some of the other societies, two tables are set, one with, the other without meat. They consume much fruit, eating it at every meal; and the Shakers have always fine and extensive gardens and orchards.

After breakfast everybody goes to work: and the "care takers," who are subordinate to the deacons, and are foremen, in fact, take their followers to their proper employments. When, as in harvest, an extra number of hands is needed at any labor, it is, of course, easy to divert at once a sufficient force to the place. The women do not labor in the fields, except in such light work as picking berries. Shakers do not toil severely. They are not in haste to be rich; and they have found that for their support, economically as they live, it is not necessary to make labor painful. Many hands make light work; and where all are interested alike, they hold that labor may be made and is made a pleasure.

Their evenings are well filled with such diversions as they regard wholesome. Instrumental music they do not generally allow themselves, but they sing well, and much time is spent in learning new hymns and tunes, which they profess to receive constantly from the spirit world. Some sort of meeting of the family is held every evening. At Mount Lebanon, for instance, on Monday evening, there is a general meeting in the dining-hall, where selected articles from the newspapers are read, crimes and accidents being omitted as unprofitable; and the selections consisting largely of scientific news, speeches on public affairs, and the general news of the world. They prefer such matter as conveys information of the important political and social movements of the day, and the elder usually makes the extracts. At this meeting, too, letters from other societies are read. On Tuesday evening they meet in the assembly hall for singing, marching, etc. Wednesday night is devoted to a union meeting for conversation. Thursday night is a "laboring meeting," which means the regular religious service, where they "labor to get good." Friday is devoted to new songs and hymns, and Saturday evening to worship. On Sunday evening, finally, they visit at each other's rooms, three or four sisters visiting the brethren in each room, by appointment, and engaging in singing and in conversation upon general subjects.

In their religious services there is little or no audible prayer; they say that God does not need spoken words, and that the mental aspirations are sufficient. Their aim, too, as they say, is to "walk with God," as with a friend; and mental prayer may be a large part of their lives without interruption to usual vocations. They do not regularly read the Bible.

The Sunday service is held either in the "meeting house," where two or three families, all composing the society, join together, or in the large assembly hall which is found in every family house. In the meeting-house there are generally benches, on which the people sit until all are assembled. In the assembly hall there are only seats ranged along the walls, and the members of the family, as they enter, take their accustomed places, standing in the ranks which are formed for worship. The men face the women, the older men and women in the front, the elders standing at the head of the first rank. A somewhat broad space or gangway is left between the two front ranks. After the singing of a hymn, the elder usually makes a brief address upon holiness of living and consecration to God; he is followed by the eldress; and thereupon the ranks are broken and a dozen of the brethren and sisters, forming a separate square on the floor, begin a lively hymn tune, in which all the rest join, marching around the room to a quick step, the women following the men, and often clapping their hands.

The exercises are varied by reforming the ranks; by speaking from men and women; by singing and by dancing as they march, "as David danced before the Lord"—the dance being a kind of shuffle. Occasionally one of the members, more deeply moved than the rest, or perhaps in some tribulation of soul asks the prayers of the others; or one comes to the front, and, bowing before the elder and eldress, begins to whirl, a singular exercise which is sometimes continued for a considerable time, and is a remarkable performance. Then some brother or sister is impressed to deliver a message of comfort or warning from the spirit land; or some spirit asks the prayers of the assembly. On such occasions the elder asks all to kneel for a few moments in silent prayer. In their marching and dancing they hold their hands before them, and make a motion as of gathering something to themselves; this is called gathering a blessing. In like manner, when any brother or sister asks for their prayers and sympathy, they, reversing their hands, push toward him that which he asks.

The visiting, which is done on Sunday evenings, is perhaps as curious as any part of their ceremonial. Like all else in their lives, these visits are prearranged for them—a certain group of sisters visiting a certain group of brethren. The sisters, from four to eight in number, sit in a row on one side, in straight backed benches, each with her neat hood or cap, and each with a clean white handkerchief spread stiffly across her lap. The brethren, of equal number, sit opposite them in another row, also in stiff backed chairs, and also each with a white handkerchief smoothly laid over his knees. Thus arranged, they converse upon the news of the week, events in the outer world, the farm operations, and the weather, they sing, and in general have a pleasant reunion not without gentle laughing and mild amusements. They meet at an appointed time, and at another set hour they part, and no doubt they find great satisfaction in this—the only meeting in which they fall into sets which do not include the whole family.—[Nordhoff's "Communistic Societies of the United States." THE DAY.

Already civilization is doing its deadly work in the Fiji Islands. The measles have just broken out there.

A Democratic state convention will be held on Saturday to take advantage of any mistake the Republican convention may make on Thursday.

Bessie Turner says she was mistaken when she told the investigating committee that she was a Miss taken from her bed by Tilton and deposited in his.

Assistant Pastor Holliday is to be sued for a libel contained in his evidence. Will these secondary suits stretch out until the crack of doom? Holliday says that what he said was that the Juvenile Guardian Society was one of the biggest humbugs afloat. Now that his attention is called to it, he thinks it is not a humbug.

The editor of the Norwalk, Conn., Hour having perpetrated a minute joke on a grocer, saying that the grocer had received a present of a cigar box which contained not Partagas, but a dead cat, the irate grocer defaced the editor by closing his eye and increasing his cheek, and applying several blows to his nose thereby fracturing that prominent feature. The editor has sued the grocer for assault and the grocer has sued the editor for libel.

The so called Rev. Mr. Parry of Worcester has been preaching about eggs. If he would take bad eggs for his subject he could use himself as an illustration. This man says that dignity is the curse of the pulpit, but it must be apparent to everybody that Parry and Talmage are enough of themselves to bring down the general average of dignity, in the Congregational denomination, at least, to a pretty low figure.

Trinity church, New York, is, we believe, the richest ecclesiastical corporation in the United States, and the taxation of its leased property is recommended by Bishop Clark, or it would be taxed under the system proposed by the bishop. That the taxation of this property would be quite as unjust as the taxation of a church building appears clearly enough from the Trinity church year book, lately published. It appears from this that the wealth of the corporation has been greatly over-estimated. Omitting cemeteries the property does not exceed $7,500,000 in value, the income from it amounting to about $500,000 annually. Besides Trinity church the corporation sustains six minor churches or chapels, the seven occupying the attention of fifteen clergymen. Eighteen churches outside of the parish are aided by this corporation, the three largest of which receive $20,000 a year. A number of parish and industrial schools and relief guilds are also supported by the corporation. During the year ending August 1 1874 $55,180.42 was spent in charity outside of the parish.

THE ACAPULCO MASSACRE.

The massacre at Acapulco, the full details of which have just been published, would disgrace the pagans of China or the Mohammedans of Turkey. Had it been committed by either, civilized nations would have been prompt to interfere. That it was committed by so called Christians in behalf of a nominally Christian religion, and in what professes to be a civilized country, should afford the perpetrators no immunity. One of the murdered men was an American citizen and an American war vessel has been ordered to Acapulco to secure the punishment of his murderers. The Mexican legation at Washington declare that the government is doing all it can to enforce the law, and that the man-of-war can do no good. But if the Mexican government is powerless it is high time that some other government assumed its functions and secured life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness to Protestant as well as Catholic.

Thirty or forty armed ruffians were so offended at the presence of Protestants, and at the publication of a paper advocating the new faith, that they went to the place where a Protestant prayer meeting was in session determined to prove their fidelity to their own religion by murdering their opponents. Eight or ten of them entered the church and without warning or provocation commenced a bloody attack on men and women with the long, sharp knives used in cutting sugar cane. Five Protestants were killed and ten wounded. Three of their assailants were killed. It may be very wicked, but it affords us some consolation to learn that the leader of this band of cut-throats was fatally shot by the leader of the meeting, whom he made the special object of his attack.

The parish priest is charged with having known of the intended attack. Be this as it may, the massacre occurred on Tuesday, January 26th, and on the following Sunday the priest never alluded to the horrible affair; he had not one word of condemnation or regret for the repetition on a small scale of the scenes of St. Bartholomew's night. When the governor of the state arrived at Acapulco with troops he was met by nearly 800 men and women who declared that they approved of everything the priest had done and should resist his arrest. In fact his promotion to a bishopric has been suggested. The governor received a petition with 200 signatures praying that all the Protestants might be expelled from the city. While the troops that were to protect Protestants were on their way to Acapulco they met a citizen. One of the soldiers asked him if he were a Protestant. He took the question in jest and in the same spirit answered that he was, though he really was not. The soldier who asked the question shot him dead.

It is only about a year since the Rev. Mr. Stevens was murdered in Mexico as the direct result of an incendiary harangue by a priest. That Mexico needs missionary labor as much as Burmah or the Pacific islands is pretty clearly proved by these bloody acts. If the Catholic church is either unable or unwilling to tame the savage Mexican, then it is a pity that any obstacle should be thrown in the way of the introduction of any other religion, just by way of experiment. These murders can be stopped. The priests possess an influence over the populace of Mexico that they possess nowhere else except in Spain, the South American republics, and other barbarous and benighted countries. The holy and infallible and universal church is supported by the state in Mexico, as are the parochial schools, just as Vicar General Quinn wants them to be in New York. If the bishops of Mexico said the word there would be an end to persecution. If they don't, we are liberty to draw our inferences. If forty members of Trinity church made a murderous attack on a Baptist prayer meeting in this city, and Dr. White were not removed, and the attack were not condemned by the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church we should draw our inferences. Under the old slave regime a Mississippi planter asked one of his slaves, who was a popular preacher, if there was not a good deal of stealing on the plantation. The reverend gentleman acknowledged that there was. The master suggested that the clergyman preach a sermon on the wickedness of theft, but the preacher demurred. He said it would "trow a col'ness ober de meeting." Now, nobody supposes that the Catholic bishops of Mexico or any other country approve of this massacre, but it is quite likely that they will refrain from a condemnation of it lest they should "trow a col'ness ober de meeting."

MISS FINKENSTAEDT.

We quote from the Boston papers two or three notices of our pianiste's performance at Music Hall Thursday last. We have but room for these among the many favorable opinions the Boston critics expressed:

The last concert of the Harvard symphony course was given in the Music hall yesterday afternoon. The programme was unique and in variety and novelty as well as in merit made a worthy close to the series of the season. Miss Anna Finkenstaedt's performance of Mendelssohn's Capriccio in B flat minor, opp. 22, was very meritorious. The arrangement of the musicians necessitated, we suppose, the placing of the piano at a considerable distance from the front of the stage, and the effect was to deaden and weaken the sound of the instrument,—an effect peculiarly unfortunate because Miss Finkenstaedt's style was fully as quiet and mild as was desirable for the brilliant vivacity of Mendelssohn's music. But the artiste's clear, finished method, her clean and fluent fingering and her excellent taste were admirable.—[Advertiser.

Three numbers only were assigned to the orchestra, one of which was the "Capriccio in B flat minor, opp. 22," of Mendelssohn for piano and orchestra, introducing the young pianiste, Miss Anna Finkenstaedt. Miss Finkenstaedt make a very favorable impression, playing with clear and distinct execution and with due appreciation of the composer's intentions, and eliciting frequent applause from a sympathetic audience.—[Transcript.

The tenth and last of the regular series of concerts given by the Harvard musical association took place at Music hall yesterday afternoon. The Cecilia took a prominent part in the entertainment, singing with the aid of Miss Abby Whinery, Miss Morse, Dr. Langmaid and Dr. Bullard as soloists, Durante's Magnificat in B flat, two charming part songs for mixed voices, by J. C. D. Parker, entitled "The River Sprite," and "The Sea hath its Pearls," the finale to the first act of "Euryanthe," by Weber and fragments of Mendelssohn's unfinished opera "Lorelei." All the vocal music was conducted by Mr. Lang except the two songs by Mr. Parker, the performance of which was under the composer's own direction. The singing was not at all times up to the best standard of the club, but the part songs and some portions of the "Lorelei" music were well rendered. Miss Whinery's solos were well sung. Miss Anna Finkenstaedt, the pianist, gained much favor for an exceedingly fine rendering of Mendelssohn's Capriccio in B flat Minor, Opp. 22. The orchestral selections were Schumann's Symphony No. 2, in C, and Weber's overture to "Euryanthe." The best played portion of the symphony was the Adagio. The instrumental performances were under the direction of Mr. Zerrahn.—[Journal.

It was followed by Mendelssohn's Capriccio in B flat minor, for piano. This was played by Miss Anna Finkenstaedt, with much brilliancy, and, in the quieter portions, with equal refinement of feeling. She has a clear, crisp touch, a good technique, and her style is characterized by taste and intelligence.—[Saturday Evening Gazette.

THE BEECHER TRIAL REPORTS.—Several correspondents have written to the New York Times asking that it suppress the report of the Beecher trial. The editor points out the fact, however, that the papers have a sort of implied contract with the public to to furnish news, and that the trial is so great an event in the annals of the day that it would be impossible to do otherwise than publish its particulars. The editor also takes leave to question that the effect of the trial in its published reports will be altogether bad. He says:—

We believe that it will disgust all right-thinking persons with what are called "eccentricities" in religious matters, and show in a striking light the great danger that there must always be in departing, even a single hair's breadth, from the old fashioned and prudent course marked out by our forefathers in regard to the sanctity of home life. Many a young man and woman will have their eyes opened now to the true meaning of all the mystical talk about "affinities" and "soul-relationships," with which the country has been flooded during the past few years. The "Beecher trial" will always stand as a terrible warning to those who are tempted to follow in the course which so many of the people interested in this case seem to have pursued. And if the case should end in the acquittal of Mr. Beecher—as we all must hope it will—it will be impossible to speak of it as an unmitigated evil.

STATE MISCELLANY.

A very distressing case of suicide has occurred in Coventry. Mrs. Abraham Colby took her infant in her arms, and sprang into a well, whence both were taken dead.

In the case of Joseph Goodness, who died in a police cell at Providence, after being beaten in the house of Frank Dissent, the jury of inquest Saturday returned a verdict of murder against Dissent and Antoino Sylva.

We understand that the will of the late Hon. Richard Ward Green, bequeaths what is estimated to amount to $75,000 to aid Methodist Episcopal Sunday schools, in this state, one third to be paid now, and the remainder upon the death of his wife.

Why not abolish colleges and erect state prisons instead? A convict in the Rhode Island prison has acquired Latin, Greek, Arabic, German, French, Italian and Spanish during the six years he has already been imprisoned, and is now at work on Hebrew.

A story is told of a woman in Providence, who having secured a good place to see the St. Patrick procession, reported to the police that she had lost her child, and earnestly asked him to find it for her, as she did not dare to go in search of it, for if she did she should "lose her place."

"Snuff dipping" has become so prevalent in Providence, that the stores advertise by placards "Snuff for Dipping." The Providence Journal, with its usual watchfulness over the morals of the state, roundly denounces the disgusting habit, which it "suspects" is confined to women, and wants a new officer appointed, under the name of "fool-catcher," to put a stop to it.

Major Samuel H. Hopkins, of Clayville, who died March 16th, was buried at the Sand Hill burying ground, in Foster Centre, his native town. Major Hopkins was in his 80th year, and had been prominently identified with public matters in the town of Foster. He held the position of member of the town council in Foster eight years, commencing in 1842; also represented the town in the General Assembly, and had held the office of major in the state militia. He was a public spirited citizen, and his advice was often sought by his fellow townsmen. In politics he was a Republican, and during the late rebellion was an ardent supporter of the union cause, and was ever ready with his vote and influence, to appropriate money to help the boys in blue and their families.

The union spelling match at the Congregational church at Central Falls last Friday evening, was a success in every sense of the word. A large audience filled the body and galleries of the house and manifested great interest in the contest. E. L. Freeman presided, J. E. Goldwortley acted as referee, and the words were pronounced by the Rev. J. H. Lyon and Charles A. Lee, the former selecting his list from Leach's Speller, and the latter from a Providence paper. The exercises lasted over two hours, and the contest showed Central Falls possessed of as goodly a number of unexceptionably good spellers as any town or city will average. Mrs. Thomas Davis took the first prize of ten dollars in gold, and Master George Magee the second, a five dollar greenback.

At the works of the American Spool Company in Westerly they have been running the full complement of employes through the Winter, and orders are coming in now that promise an increase of business. They have just created an office fronting on the street and adjoining the manufactory, 16 by 20 feet, four feet of which is appropriated in vestibules and ante-rooms. The office is finished in a superior manner, with hard-finished walls, heated by steam and lighted with gas. Mr. Peleg Clark, the efficient agent of the company, has just invented an attachment by means of which the metallic spool head (of which this company are the sole inventors), may be secured to the spool shaft. Previously the head would become detached, which this arrangement entirely obviates. They manufacture every variety of factory spools, and have recently added the manufacture of bobbins. These require eight different processes in their manufacture. They are made of the very best of white birch and yellow maple, and bought in the rough in the northern New England States at four dollars per thousand.

AN EXAMINATION INTO THE CHARGE THAT THE PROHIBITION LAW IS A FAILURE.—WHAT IT FAILS TO DO.

An Hon.——— wants the prohibitory law repealed because "it's a failure."—Who is that man? Is he a rumseller? No. A drunkard? No. A moderate drinker? Yes; and a very intimate friend of ——— who keeps a hotel and did have a license until the prohibitory law went into effect. Indeed, this honorable gentleman is a boarder in this hotel.

It is a significant fact that this high minded (?) gentleman declares the law a failure and thinks it might be a good plan to have a license law.

Let us examine. Now if prohibition did not prohibit, where would this landlord be likely to be found on this question? In favor of prohibition, of course, because he can make more money by it. First, because he saves the amount of his license, (two hundred dollars), which now becomes a working capital instead of being given away for a valueless piece of paper—it being well known that after the expiration of his term of license, the paper which was worth two hundred dollars for twelve months, is not now of the value of a fraction of a dime. So if the prohibitory law fails to prohibit the sale of liquor, it is for the interest of the liquor dealers to sustain it: and they will do it every time.

Prohibition fails to please the rumsellers. They want license. One of them, a grocer, says that he is willing to pay a thousand dollars for a license!! Are not these men hard to please? Dissatisfied with prohibition when it is such "a failure!"—What can ail them? Give a thousand dollars for license to sell when they sell just as much under prohibition! Have we no asylum for idiots?

Prohibition fails to increase the number of drunkards.

This fact is too clearly proved even in the cities of Providence and Newport to be denied by any sane man. We cite these municipalities because those are the strongholds of the rum power.

We ask the intelligent reader to notice the following official reports of the chief of police of Providence for the months of January, in the five years from 1870 to 1875, inclusive, in the item of arrests for drunkenness.

1870.	Estimated 1871	Pop. 1872. 78,000.	Pop. 1873. 75 000.	Pop. 1874. 80,000.	Pop. 1875. 100,000.
240.	217.	302.	323.	348.	285.

How does it happen that there is a constant increase in drunkenness until the population of the city has reached 80,000, and a marked decrease when it reaches 100,000?

It will be seen that in January, 1875, there were 17 less arrests for drunkenness than in January, 1872; 38 less than in January 1873; 63 less than in January, 1874; and, considering the numerical increase in our population, a relative decrease of 131, or of at least four, for each day in the month.

Providence police reports testify that prohibition fails to increase the number of drunkards, because with an actual increase of 15,000 to the population in January, 1875, there are 63 less arrests for drunkenness, (under prohibition), than in January, 1874, under license,

Even in conservative Newport we find the same facts staring us in the face. From her police reports we glean the following:

The number of arrests for drunkenness in 1873	1874	Dec.	Inc.	Total Dec.

July	85	54	31
Aug.	45	33	13
Sept.	53	31	22
Oct.	21	33		11
Nov.	37	26	11
Dec.	27	24	3
	274	202	83	11

Total decrease for six months—72

Who will say that prohibition is not a failure as a means of increasing drunkenness?

Seriously, we chronicle the fact that the arrests for drunkenness in Providence have fallen off under the prohibitory law. The constabulary force did not commence work in Providence until August had well nigh passed. But we find that there were 67 less arrests for drunkenness in Aug. 1874 than in Aug. 1873; 15 less in Sept.; 187 less in October; 139 less in Nov.; 54 less in Dec. than in the corresponding months of 1873. About the same ratios exist in the summary of general arrests. Observe now two facts, viz: An increasing number of grog shops always furnish an increasing number of drunkards. Secondly, the population has been increased 15,000 by annexation from North Providence since Dec. 1873.

When these facts are put together it will be seen that prohibition diminishes drunkenness, and that in a marked degree. It follows that prohibition does decrease dram-selling, or else it changes the nature of the drink so that it don't make people drunk.

License never diminishes drunkenness.

AUGUST FLOWER.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from dyspepsia and liver complaint.

More than seventy five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effect; such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual costiveness, impure blood, heartburn, waterbrash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of the food after eating, low spirits, &c. Go to the drug store of James H. Taylor and get a 75 cent bottle, or a sample bottle for ten cents. Try it.

DIED.

LOCKE.—In Providence, 26th inst., Crescentius B., widow of the late Nathaniel D. Locke, in the 45th year of her age.

Take the whole catalogue of medicine and you will not find a preparation so competent to effectually deal with kidney, bladder, glandular and Bright's disease as Hunt's Remedy. Gravel, dropsy, diabetes, suppression and incontinuance of urine, pains in the side, back and loins, complaints of the urino-genital organs and female irregularities. It subdues and restores to a sanitary condition the impaired nerve structure.

A Train of Evils.

If weakness of the stomach is allowed to become chronic, the following evils supervene—Digestion is permanently impaired, the system is very imperfectly nourished, the blood becomes thin and watery, and the bile being unemployed for digestive and evacuative purposes, enters the circulation through the thoracic duct, and injects itself into the superficial vessels, giving to the skin and whites of the eyes the saffron tinge indicative of biliousness. Headache, nausea, constipation, pains in the side, palpitations, heartburn, dizziness, and many other harrassing symptoms which accompany the internal derangement above described, which if unchecked is as sure to be followed by serious disease, as the rising of the sun by its setting. It is manifest, therefore, that an inability of the stomach to act upon the food should be overcome without delay. The invigorating influence upon that organ of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is speedily felt in the disappearance of all the disagreeable symptoms alluded to. The prescribed mineral remedies for general debility usually fail to achieve any lasting result, because they do not invigorate the stomach; Hostetter' Bitters always succeed because that is their principal effect. The very fact that they are such an excellent stomachic constitutes them one of the best general tonics in existence. To restore digestion is the final step towards the recovery of health, when impaired by any of the multifarious complaints which spring from dyspepsia, and that step will be found to have been taken by the invalid who has availed himself of this famous anti-dyspeptic remedy.

To the Afflicted. No matter under what form of sickness you labor, there is one great truth you should keep in mind: All disease originates in an impure condition of the blood. Purify that, and the disease must depart; but you cannot purify the blood by the use of poisonous drugs, and exhaustive stimulants. The best Blood Purifier ever discovered is Dr. WALKER's famous VINEGAR BITTERS, compounded of simple herbs. feb5-tw

GENERAL NEWS

FROM WASHINGTON.

Senator Johnson's Speech on the Louisiana Question.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.

Mr. Johnson's speech in the Senate today was, on the whole, disappointing to the crowded audiences which filled the chamber and galleries—disappointing to perhaps the larger part, because it was almost wholly devoid of personalities, and to most of the other auditors because it hardly fulfilled the promise of the elaborate preparation which it was understood the ex-President had made. For an hour and a half Mr. Johnson spoke to some purpose. Then it was quite apparent that he had said all he had to say-but unfortunately, as he intimated his intention to stop, somebody said "Go on," and he dilated for half an hour on the constitution. It was thought, perhaps, that on that subject the distinguished orator could find nothing new to say, but his likening the revered instrument to the bed of Procrustes, and declaring that all men who did not conform to it must be stretched out if too short, and cut off if too long, certainly showed the limit of his rhetorical resources. Mr. Johnson's remarks on systems of government were listened to with some amusement by his associates, especially when he announced that we are living just now under a stratocracy.

The Newspaper Postage Law to go into Immediate Effect.

It has been the intention of Postmaster-General Jewell not to enforce the recent law relative to increased newspaper postage until the first of April. In this respect, however, he has changed his mind, and is preparing a circular directing it to be obeyed immediately.

FROM NEW YORK.

The River at Marietta, Pa.

NEW YORK, March 22.

Specials contain but very little additional news from the flooded regions. At Marietta, Pa., although the river is clear for some distance from either shore, there is in the centre an immense pile of ice rising out of the water to a height of fifty feet and presenting the appearance of a fortification. This pile is constantly added to, but as long as there is a passage at either side, no danger is anticipated.

The Loss in the Susquehanna Valley.

The entire loss to the Susquehanna valley, is variously estimated from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000.

The Waters Receding.—Apprehension of Disaster at Millersburg.

From different points in Pennsylvania and Maryland, the telegraph brings information that the floods are going down. At Millersburg on the Juniata river, however, there is still much danger of a disastrous overflow.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 22.

The south part of the Pennsylvania river, Colombia division, was cleared of ice last evening. From fifteen to eighteen men were employed on the work.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A Wind Storm in North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 22.

A special says that a terrific wind swept over this region Saturday. Several persons were killed, and others injured. Many houses were blown down, and the trees over a large area were torn up by the roots. In New Hope county, where the damage was greatest, farming interests are greatly injured.

Extreme Cold on the North River.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 22.

Reports this morning show intense cold weather along the Hudson river, the thermometer ranging from 6° to 11° below zero. The snow is heavily drifted on the roads running east and west, compelling teamsters in some instances to drive across the fields.

At Ithaca 14° below, and at Etna (this state) 20° below at sunrise.

Death of a Rhode Islander.

GEORGETOWN, D. C., March 22.

Col. William D. Beall, one of the oldest citizens of this place, died at his residence here today. He was a native of Rhode Island and came here over fifty years ago.

Shipments of Corn at the West.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., March 22.

The Kansas City and St. Joseph Railroad Company have been shipping, for the past month, an average of fifty car loads of corn per day to Kansas and Missouri. The demand is good for double that amount at fifty cents a bushel, but the corn cannot be had. The Texas shipments will soon begin.

A Startling Murder Comes to Light.

BOSTON, Mass., March 23.

Mrs. Mary Binghrm, a young and handsome widow of high rank in society, was found dead in the cellar of her house, 97 Webster street, East Boston, this evening. The body was terribly bruised and her throat filled with gravel taken from beneath the boards in the floor. No cause is surmised, no attempt at rape being visible. The lady was well educated and highly esteemed, and great excitement exists in the vicinity.

......Gossipping about the dead painters, Arsene Houssaye writes from Paris that it was only recently that Corot had begun to sell his pictures. Before that he lived in poverty, although he had some property from his father. But he gave away most of his income. One day, to reward a young servant who was very gentle and obedient, he said to her, "I will paint thy portrait." He did not make her beautiful, but he made her charming—a face of great originality. The young servant was not pleased with it because it was "not like other folks." Her lover, a dealer in picture-frames, offered her twenty francs for the portrait. She thought it was too much, and would only take ten francs. Who would believe it?—that picture remained more than a year in the frame-maker's window, unsold at the price of $25, and he let it go at last for $20. The man who bought it sold it again for $40. Today one of our great amateurs offers 10,000 francs for this portrait—a dowry for the servant girl if she had kept it. Corot said to her one morning, "What have you done with your portrait?" She answered that her lover, who was jealous, had taken it away from her. But Corot knew the story. He said, "You great simpleton, I must pay for your stupidity," and he gave her a landscape out of his dusty studio. "Now, this time you must wait till I am dead before you sell it." The great simpleton promised with tears in her eyes. But—such is the human heart—ever since Corot's life was despaired of the great simpleton is already trying to "trade off" the landscape. Which shows that it is not worth while to reward stupidity.

EXEMPTION.

"Mr. Stiness offered a resolution making an appropriation of $1,500 for the State Law Library. Read and passed."—Legislative Proceedings March 17.

To the above probably no objection would be made by any voter in the state; but suppose the clergy of the state should ask for a theological library, would the legislature make appropriations for the purpose? Or the medical fraternity, or any other profession or trade? Doubtful.

Now the finances of the state being rather low, it seems best to tax the churches in order to furnish a law library! And then come the military, and ask for arms, equipments, arsenals, armories and powder on training days. Call upon the churches for cash, gentlemen. They are rich. But after the churches have contributed to the state treasury, a few years, suppose they should turn round and ask for appropriations. Why not, as well as the bar and the army? Are not the Sunday school teachers worth as much as the soldiers or lawyers? Talk about churches having "lived on state pap!" What pitiful nonsense! Did any church in Rhode Island ever ask for a dollar from her treasury for any purpose whatever? But why should they not as well as agricultural and horticultural and Columbarian societies, and law libraries, and military companies? Because they have never been called upon to help support the state. No other reason can be given. It would be a pity if that reason should be removed, and a door opened through which they could come and ask for appropriations.—[Providence Journal.

SOME OF THE PLEASURES OF REPAIRING A HOUSE.

The principal reason why so many people dread having their houses done up is that the object of each tradesman employed seems to be to make work for some other tradesman. The whitewasher forgets to cover up the steel grate in the drawing-room when he is doing the ceiling. The housemaid is so busy flirting with them and listening to the words of the last comic song which he is trying to teach her, that she neglects to remove the fender and fire-irons. Grate, fender and fire-irons are completely spoiled and have to be sent away and re-polished at considerable expense. The whitewasher also manages to clog the bell wires so that the bells will not ring. The bell hanger must therefore be sent for. He leaves dirty finger-marks upon the cornice where he has loosened the cranks, and round the china-handles where he tries the bells. Perhaps he breaks one of the handles. It cannot be matched, so two new ones must be bought, and another tradesman brought in to put them on. The paper-hanger possibly uses bad size on the wall, and makes his paste of damaged flour; consequently, when the room is again inhabited it has a mysterious but most offensive smell. Perhaps he does not take the trouble to remove the old paper before putting on the new one, in which case pastiles may be burnt and windows opened, but all in vain—the smell will remain. The painter does not sufficiently rub down or burn off the old paint before he puts on the new. He sometimes even covers the old doors with size to save himself trouble and make a surface. He is almost always careless with his first coat—a carelessness he cannot afterwards repair. It is not uncommon, as soon as the new paint is quite dry, and has been under the influence of either sunshine or a hot fire, to see it starting off in pieces at the slightest touch, and leaving the light under color visible. If not carefully watched, the painter will put his pots on one of our best tables, making on it a fine confused pattern of circles, great and small. In consequence of his carelessness the French polisher has to be called in. The painter is quite satisfied, having done his part towards the encouragement of trade. In giving hall-doors a fresh coat he lets drops fall on the step which no French polisher or English housemaid could, with any quantity of fuller's earth whiten or remove. He walks up and down the oilcloth in the hall with nailed boots, and gives it the appearance of having recently recovered from a severe attack of smallpox. His sympathies are with the makers of oilcloth, not the buyers thereof, so he is rather pleased.—[Saturday Review.

"He struck out for the wild West and rang the bells in the forest glades," remarked General Tracy in the eloquent description of his client. This is very beautiful and poetical, General, but it's rather rough on Indianapolis. These glades are mostly made up of forests of spires and chimneys, and they are worth about one thousand dollars per foot.—[Indianapolis Sentinel.

WHAT IS VEGETINE ?

It is a compound extracted from barks, roots and herbs. It is Natures Remedy. It is perfectly harmless from any bad effect upon the system. It is nourishing and strengthening. It acts directly upon the blood. It quiets the nervous system. It gives you good sweet sleep at night. It is a panacea for our aged fathers and mothers, for it gives them strength, quiets their nerves, and gives them Nature's sweet sleep—as has been proved by many an aged person. It is the great Blood Purifier. It is a soothing remedy for our children. It has relieved and cured thousands. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. It relieves and cures all diseases originating from impure blood. Try the VEGETINE. Give it a fair trial for your complaints; then you will say to your friend, neighbor and acquaintance, "Try it; it has cured me."

RELIABLE EVIDENCE.

The following unsolicited testimonial from Rev. O. T. Walker, formerly pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston, and at present settled in Providence, R. I., must be deemed as reliable evidence. No one should fail to observe that this testimonial is the result of two years' experience with the use of VEGETINE in the Rev. Mr. Walker's family, who now pronounce it invaluable:

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 164 TRANSIT STREET.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your VEGETINE. My family have used it for the last two years. In nervous debility it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic.

O. T. WALKER,
Formerly Pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston.

The Best Evidence.

The following letter from Rev. E. S. Best, Pastor of the M. E. Church, Natick, Mass., will be read with interest by many physicians; also those suffering from the same disease as afflicted the son of the Rev. E. S. Best. No person can doubt this testimony, as there is no doubt about the curative power of VEGETINE.

NATICK, MASS., Jan. 1st 1875.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—We have good reason for regarding your VEGETINE a medicine of the greatest value. We feel assured that it has been the means of saving our son's life. He is now seventeen years of age; for the last two years he has suffered from necrosis of his leg, caused by scrofulous affection, and was so far reduced that nearly all who saw him thought his recovery impossible. A council of able physicians could give us but the faintest hope of his ever rallying; two of the number declaring that he was beyond the reach of human remedies, that even amputation could not save him, as he had not vigor enough to endure the operation. Just then we commenced giving him VEGETINE and from that time to the present he has been continuously improving. He has lately resumed studies, thrown away his crutches and cane, and walks about cheerfully and strong.

Though there is some discharge from the opening where his limb was lanced, we have the fullest confidence that in a little time he will be perfectly cured.

He has taken about three dozen bottles of VEGETINE, but lately uses but little, as he declares he is too well to be taking medicine.

Respectfully yours,
E. S. BEST.
MRS. L. C. F. BEST.

H. R. Stevens, Boston, Mass.

Newport Testimony.

Testimony of Captain Hammond of Newport.

W. H. CARPENTER, M. D.,—DEAR SIR:—Allow me to thank you, through the NEWS and JOURNAL, for the great benefits conferred upon me by your treatment for Chronic Catarrh. Five weeks ago, when I consulted you, I was prostrated and nearly worn out with that terrible disease. Under your treatment I began to improve at once, and in two weeks was able to resume my employment, and have continued to improve up to this time.

Yours Sincerely,
J. F. HAMMOND,

Newport, March 18, 1875.

STATEMENT OF MR. RICHARD STAFFORD.

NEWPORT, Jan. 7, 1875.

W. H. CARPENTER, M. D.—Dear Sir:—Having received great benefit from your treatment of my case of deafness and discharges from my ears, I beg to offer you my sincere and heartfelt thanks, hoping at the same time this correspondence may be of use to you professionally. To the public I would say, (if you decide to put this in print,) that as the result of Scarlet Fever, I was troubled for the whole of twenty years with a filthy, disgusting discharge from both ears, which made me grow deafer and deafer, and caused a polypus to grow in one ear, and I received no relief until I applied to Dr. C., for a remedy. I at once placed myself under his care, and through his skillful treatment I have completely recovered from the unpleasant and deplorable condition I was in. My faith in Dr. C's skill is unbounded as I considered my case about incurable before applying to him.

RICHARD STAFFORD, No. 8 Cross street.

CERTIFICATE OF MR. JOHN CASWELL,

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 12, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF NEWS:—I wish to recommend Dr. Carpenter's treatment to such of the community as have Scrofula. I inherited it, and it has always run in my blood, and last Fall it became terrible, injuring my health, and attacking my head and face particularly and so disfigured me that a neighbor that met me did not know me until I spoke to him. I applied to Dr. Carpenter, at the Perry House, and his medicines have met with gratifying success. My health is now good, have very little trouble with the humor, face looks natural, and I hope with a little more treatment, to eradicate the poisonous humor from my system entirely. I reside in Middletown.

JOHN CASWELL.

Catarrh and Polypus.

Home Testimony.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 6th, 1874.

This is to proclaim what Dr. Carpenter has done for me. I suffered from Catarrh 40 years, and the last 10 years my nasal passages were filled with Polypus. I employed physicians from time to time, and two years ago, went to Boston, and was doctored there three months, and left off worse than I began, and I was almost discouraged. But I felt that I must do something, for I was obliged to keep my mouth open and my health was becoming impaired. So I went to Fall River last Spring, and placed myself under the care of Dr. Carpenter. His treatment proved highly satisfactory. He removed and cured the Polypus, I can breathe naturally, the Catarrh troubles me very little and altogether I am comfortable and as well as a man 60 years of age, can expect to be, and I hope this testimony may be the means of securing relief to other sufferers. I reside in Middletown.

ASA PECKHAM.

Permanent Cures of Scrofulous Catarrh.

Testimony of a Citizen of Newport.

My son and daughter were sufferers from Scrofulous Catarrh from birth, and with discharges, swellings upon their necks; and an utter inability to breathe through the nose, they were uncomfortable enough, when we placed them under the care of Dr. Carpenter in 1863. His remedies cured them in a few months and they remain well to this day. I publish this with the hope it may be the means of securing relief to others.

A CARD FROM

Mr. John Beattie Jr.

(From Fall River News.)

FALL RIVER, Jan. 22, 1874.

W. H. CARPENTER, M. D.,—My Dear Sir:—Allow me thus publicly to express my gratitude for the great benefit conferred upon me by your treatment. I was afflicted for years with Catarrh which had become a constant torment to me, the irritation and inflammation having increased until ulceration was the consequence. Your treatment has been attended with the happiest results. I am now comfortable, my head feels well, and I believe myself cured of that terrible disease.

JOHN BEATTIE, JR.

Mr. Beattie is of the well-known Firm of Wm. & J. Beattie, Jr., Granite Dealers and Contractors, 2 Quarry street.

A CARD FROM WALTER SCOTT, Esq.,

EDITOR OF BORDER CITY HERALD, OF FALL RIVER.

I have known Dr. Carpenter since he commenced practice in this city, and I am satisfied that he is a skillful physician and has been successful in the treatment of a great majority of the cases in which he has been consulted. Of my own personal knowledge, I have reason to testify that quite a number of the individuals cured were nearly hopeless in their condition; some about blind, others deaf, and others laboring under Bronchial and Catarrhal affections, and I have seen the same persons restored under his treatment to their normal state of health. I therefore, knowing these things, without hesitation recommend him to persons suffering from the maladies he has made his special study for years.

WALTER SCOTT.

Scrofula and St. Vitus Dance Cured.

(From Fall River Herald.)

When we took our daughter Ellen to Dr. Carpenter last May, at the Mount Hope House, she was in a terrible condition from Scrofula and St. Vitus Dance, and was not willing to go among folks, for her limbs jerked and twitched so she had not much control over them, but through Dr. Carpenter's skill she has been restored and is now well. We want this cure known, for some of our acquaintances have taken their children to Europe for treatment, thinking they could not be cured in this country. This case is well known by our neighbors.

GEORGE HEAP,
White Block, Border City Mills.

Mr. A. D. White's Card.

(From Fall River News.)

FALL RIVER, May 23, 1874.

To my Friends and the Public:

It affords me great satisfaction to be able to testify to the success of Dr. Carpenter in the treatment of my Ears, which were a source of trouble and annoyance to me more than twenty years. Dr. C.'s treatment restored them, and they have been well several months. I have great confidence in Dr. Carpenter's skill and success in practice, and do not hesitate to recommend him.

Catarrh and Blindness.

(From Fall River News.)

Testimony of Mrs. J. Coomb, of Fall River.

I was diseased with an aggravated form of Catarrh ten years, and in consequence my eyes became affected in December last, and grew worse until I could not go about without being led. Was under the care of several doctors and at the Boston Infirmary, but got no help until I consulted Dr. Carpenter at the Mount Hope House, April 2d. Under his treatment I began to improve immediately, and now I consider myself cured. I think everyone should know there is a physician in Fall River who can cure such diseases. As I am not very well known in this city, I am at liberty to refer to W. Scott, Esq., No. 1 Ferry street, who saw me when I was in a state of blindness and since I was cured.
